

What you need to know about Shade Impatiens & Downy Mildew.....

Impatiens Downy Mildew is spreading across the country. It only affects the Impatiens walleriana, or Shade Impatiens causing them to yellow, curl, and drop leaves and flowers. At this time there are limited controls at the production level, and no controls available for the consumer.

For this reason, Adams Nurseries has decided to suspend our annual Impatiens Blowout Sale until this problem is under control and we feel confident that you can have the success that you expect from our Annuals.

If you choose to plant Shade Impatiens, you need to be aware of this potential problem and the early symptoms. Please ask for a handout from our Garden Center with more details.

Or visit Cornell University website:

<http://ccesuffolk.org/floriculture-program>

Other Shade Annual Choices:

Rieger Begonia

Coleus

Torenia

New Guinea Impatiens

Fuchsia

And Many More

When you want to succeed
the very first time.....